Defendant is a 27 year old resident of Brampton, Canada who entered Canada from Iraq in 2001. In 2005 he became a Canadian citizen. Defendant is an unemployed construction worker in Canada with no financial assets or liabilities and he lives with his parents. He admits to minimal ties with an uncle and cousin who live in the Sterling Heights area, but he could provide no contact information. His uncle appeared in court and offered to allow the defendant to reside at his home if he were to be released on bond with a tether. The uncle confirmed that he has had very little contact with the defendant and last saw him more than a year ago. Defendant also has an 85 year old grandmother in the area who speaks no English, but he has minimal contact with her as well.

Defendant's criminal check revealed no criminal contacts in Michigan or Canada.

Defendant was found at a truck stop in his co-defendant's brother's (Genen Yusuf) vehicle, a black Toyota, having just accepted delivery of the 39.9 kilos of MDMA inside the car. Genen Yusuf lives in Sterling Heights and loaned defendants his cars, a black Toyota and a white Hummer, which were used in the drug transaction. Defendant admits to having engaged in a previous drug delivery transaction three weeks ago as he was desperate for money.

Defendant asks that he be allowed to reside with his uncle, Mr. Narso, and his wife and three children ages 8, 12 and 13 in their home in Troy. His uncle appeared in court and agreed to act as the third party custodian. Mr. Narso is an employee of Motor City Casino and works full time as a dealer.

The court is troubled by many factors in this matter. First of all, the defendant has very minimal, at best, contacts in this district. He has rarely interacted with his family members here. To state it otherwise, he has very weak family ties to the district. His uncle, although he is willing to step up for his nephew, would not be a proper choice as a third party custodian because his relationship with the defendant is admittedly tangential. Defendant clearly has no social or financial ties to this area. He is a resident of Brampton, Ontario where he is an unemployed Canadian citizen.

Secondly, this is a presumption case. The case seems strong on its face and the penalties are severe. The presumption has not been rebutted by the fact that defendant has distant relatives in the geographical area or any other factors presented to the court.

Thirdly, if this defendant were to decide to flee to Canada, it would take years to invoke the extradition process in an effort to bring him back to face charges. Defendant is heavily incented to flee to Canada, given the gravity of the charges and the severity of the potential penalties.

Despite the absence of past criminal activity, this defendant is viewed as a risk of flight and also as a danger to the community, given the amount of drugs involved. Third party custody to a relative in this district with whom defendant has had very little contact with over the years is inappropriate. Under the circumstances, defendant has a significant incentive to flee the district and a tether would not altogether prevent flight. There are no conditions of bond that would guarantee defendant's appearance in court and therefore Detention is Ordered.
